Pluriliteracies Teaching for Deeper Learning

- Pluriliteracies Teaching for Deeper Learning (PTDL) shows teachers and materials developers ways of fostering deep learning by paying attention to the development of students' subject specific literacies as well as their conceptual understanding and automatization of subject-specific procedures, skills and strategies. By communicating about their evolving understanding in increasingly sophisticated ways, students internalize these understandings and ways of acting and thinking. PTDL not only makes the links between content and language learning visible, but it also shows how teachers can create learning trajectories taking students' current abilities as a starting point, and tracing their progress along the learning pathway

What can you expect ?

An introduction to the ECML and all of the possibilities for Training & Consultancy, Projects and other resources. Information including all of the services they can provide.

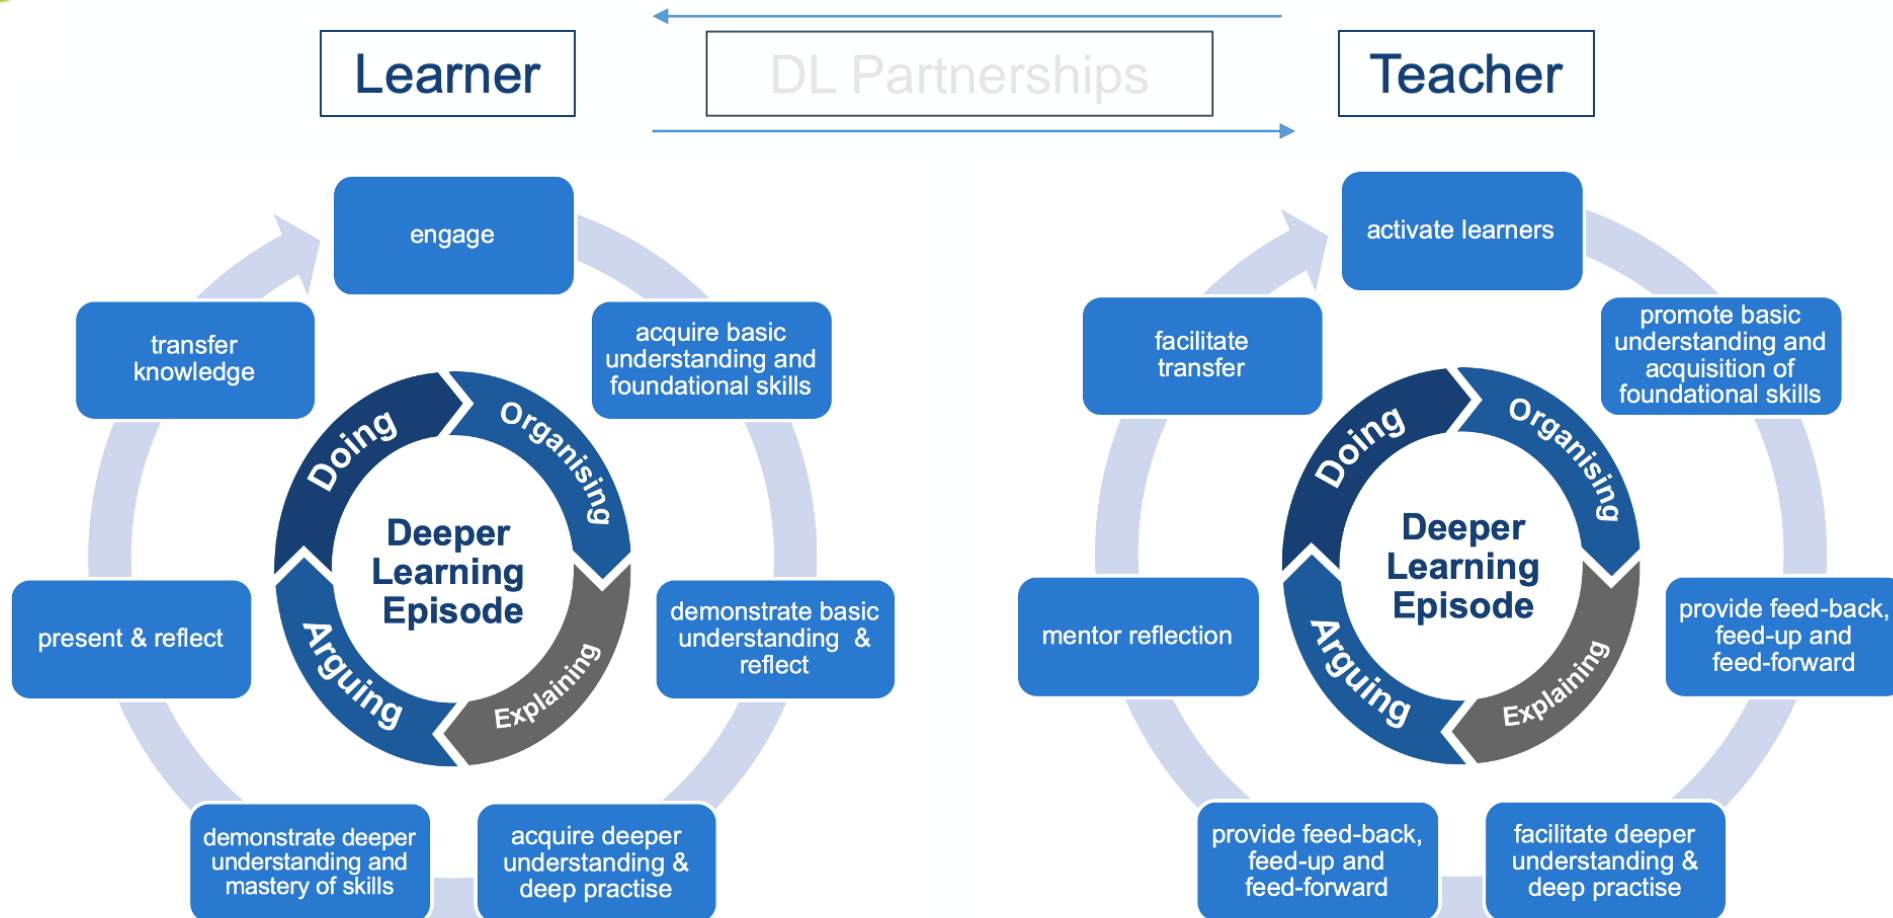

PTDL TAC events

Course participants will be involved in presentations, activities and tasks guided by experts and learn:

- why a focus on subject or disciplinary literacies is key to promoting deeper learning in and beyond their CLIL classrooms
- about the mechanics, the drivers and trajectories of deeper learning
- how to use the PTDL guiding questions to design Deeper Learning Episodes for your classrooms.
- how to enrich conventional tasks by incorporating and applying the principles of task alignment in order to increase task fidelity and personal relevance
- how to mentor learning and personal growth through progression with formative and summative assessment

Investigating the implications of deeper learning and how it empowers learners.

Brainstorming and sharing ideas to support learner progression.

Providing, Sharing ideas, materials and resources

Using a range of techniques to enable students to construct & demonstrate deeper subject understanding across languages and cultures in a wide variety of analogue and digital modes.

Taking part in different experiments to see the impact of PTDL on learners of all age groups and levels
