7. Creates a bridge between teacher education institutions and schools.
8. Supports teaching practice.

Promoting excellence in language education

Established in 1995 in Graz, Austria, as a Council of Europe institution, the ECML focuses on bridging the gap between language policy theory and classroom learning practice. This unique intergovernmental centre offers concrete approaches to issues and challenges facing Europe’s multicultural societies in a period of unparalleled change and mobility.

The ECML, guided by its 34 member states, is committed to the Council of Europe’s policy of fostering linguistic and cultural diversity as a means of promoting intercultural dialogue, democratic citizenship and human rights.

What is the EPOSTL?
The European Portfolio for Student Teachers of Languages (EPOSTL) is a didactic portfolio which helps to prepare student teachers of modern languages for their future profession by providing a framework for reflection during their teacher education course. It builds on insights from the Common European Framework of Reference for Languages and the European Language Portfolio as well as the European Profile for Language Teacher Education.

The structure and purpose of the EPOSTL
Designed to help student teachers reflect on and assess their developing knowledge, skills and values in a systematic and comprehensive way the EPOSTL comprises:

- a personal statement which asks the student teacher at the beginning of a course to reflect on general questions related to teaching
- a self-assessment section which identifies a core of 195 didactic competences expressed as ‘can-do’ descriptors, which enable reflection and self-assessment at different stages of teacher education
- a dossier which encourages the student to provide evidence of progress and to record examples of work relevant to teaching
- a glossary of the most important terms used in the EPOSTL
- a users’ guide which provides detailed information about the EPOSTL

The aims of the EPOSTL
- to make didactic competences explicit and transparent
- to encourage students to reflect on the underlying knowledge which feeds these competences
- to promote discussion between students and between students and their teacher educators and mentors
- to facilitate self-assessment of students’ competences
- to provide an instrument which helps chart progress

In addition, the explicit descriptors of the EPOSTL serve to facilitate discussions of aims, course content and curricula between teacher educators working in different national contexts. The EPOSTL is widely used in many European countries and in other continents too. It has been translated into 12 different languages.
