

ECML PROGRAMME
2016-2019
Languages at the heart of learning

Language for Work

Tools for professional development

www.ecml.at/languageforwork

This website contains a comprehensive set of resources, outlining both competences and examples of practice. At the same time, it acts as a platform for an active network of professionals in the field, where teachers, learning providers, employers and authorities can share expertise and develop practice.

Team

Matilde Grünhage-Monetti, Alexander Braddell, Christophe Portefin, Kerstin Sjösvärd

Associate partners: Rita Leinecke, Naeema Hann, Claire Extramiana, Jeffrey Bale, Monika Jezak, Laura Ambrosio

In co-operation with Moscow State Linguistic University

Resources

A resource bank with practical tools, research and policy material

Competences for professionals supporting work-related language learning

35 examples of practice including instruction, e-learning, peer learning, coaching

2 "quick guides" in pdf format available in a wide range of languages

The resources are for

Teachers, learning providers, employers and authorities

Take a closer look

Europe offers a rich diversity of approaches to learning, labour market structures and policies. The Language for Work network helps professionals working in this field to benefit from that diversity.

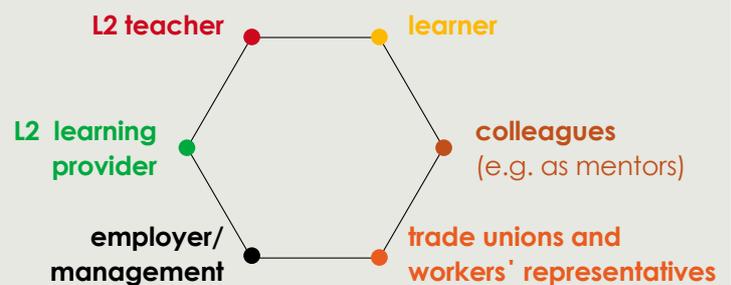

Different approaches and practices to support language learning have been developed across Europe in response to very different realities. Language for Work presents a range of possible solutions to the challenges of supporting work-related L2 development by migrants and ethnic communities as a source of inspiration. Experience proves that such practice examples can trigger new local solutions and create innovation.

Competences for professionals

An inventory that draws on

- practice examples of support for work-related L2 learning from across Europe and Canada;
- expertise of members of the Language for work network working as teachers, teacher trainers and researchers.

Collection of practices

Across Europe, new practices are emerging to support work-related language learning of migrants and ethnic minorities. 35 examples of practice are available in pdf format.

Language for Work network

Join the network to learn more about what is happening in different European countries, to share news and expertise, collaborate on projects and, together, to help shape future developments.

Quick guides

How to help adult migrants develop work-related language skills – a quick guide

Communicating with migrants – Guide for staff in job centres and public services