

European Centre for Modern Languages 2012-2015 Programme

Learning through languages

Promoting inclusive, plurilingual and intercultural education

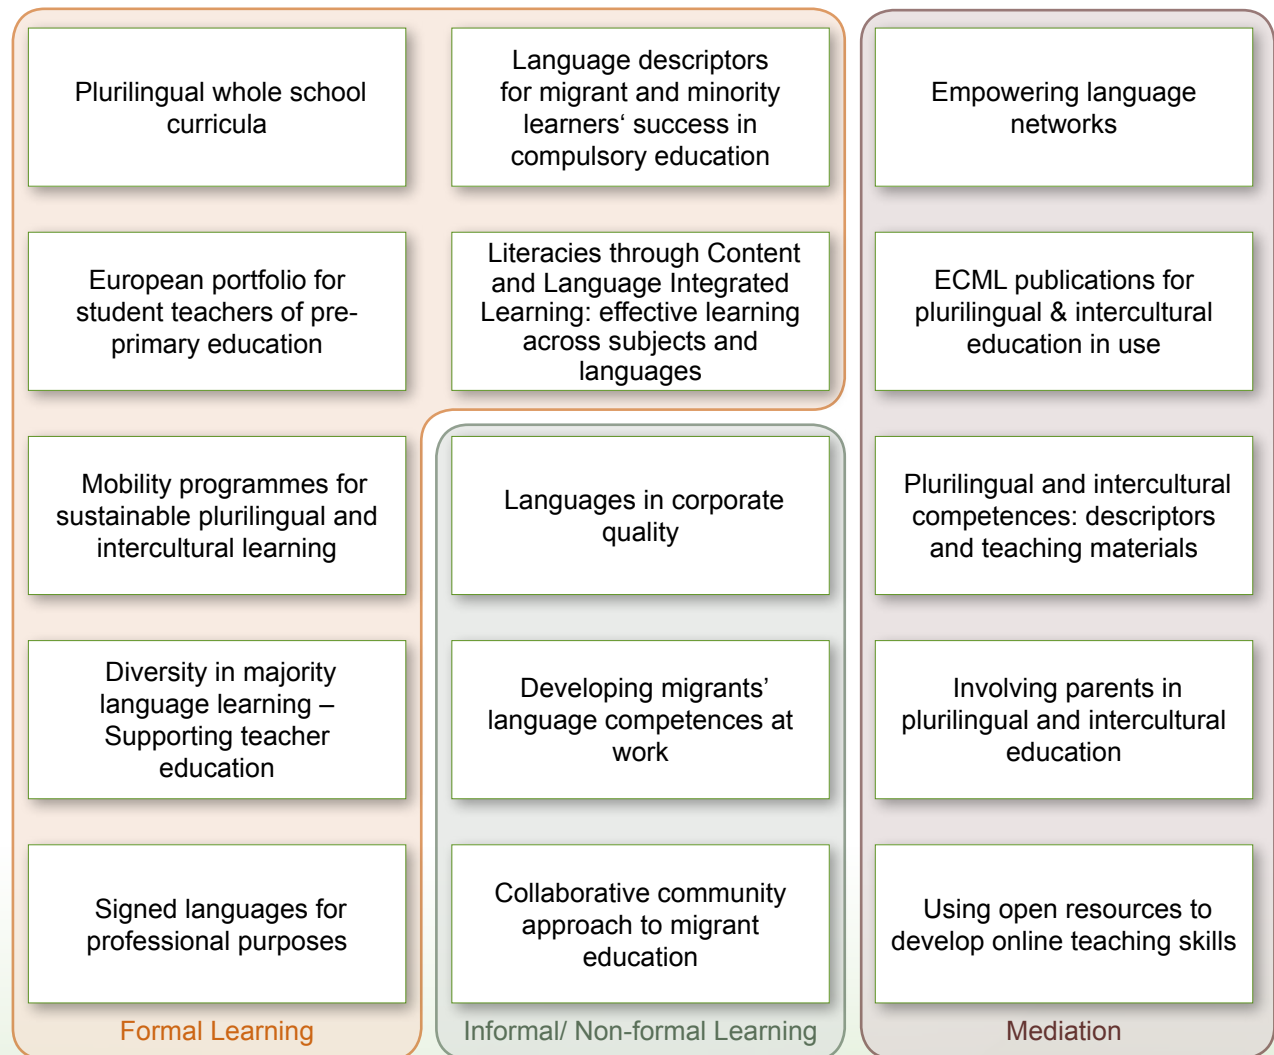

The programme builds on the Centre's previous work and widens its scope to move beyond the foreign language classroom to include all linguistic abilities and the needs of all groups of learners.

Language(s) represent(s) the principal medium through which learning is achieved, so the programme addresses not just the foreign language classroom but the teaching and learning of the language of schooling, of other languages present in the educational environment and of the languages used in subject teaching (formal learning). Projects also focus on informal and non-formal language learning and on the dialogue with stakeholders involved in the education process (mediation).

www.ecml.at/learningthroughlanguages

The projects

ECML Programme 2012-2015

www.ecml.at/learningthroughlanguages

ECML training and consultancy for member states

This new ECML activity format is intended to respond in a targeted and bilateral way to the needs of ECML member states requesting support for developments in language education.

For detailed information see www.ecml.at/trainingandconsultancy

